Statewide Gas Emergency Declared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has declared an energy emergency and asked the state's 11 million citizens to observe 65-degree thermostat settings to try to alleviate a crucial natural gas shortage.

At the same time Sunday, leaders of the General Assembly pledged their cooperation and scheduled a special session for Tuesday to consider any legislation Rhodes may feel is necessary.

Ohio is reeling under continued arctic conditions which stretched natural gas supplies beyond their limit, forced widespread school and industry shutdowns, and now are believed a threat to health and safety.

Rhodes' action Sunday, after a two-day series of hastily called weekend meetings with fuel industry spokesmen, labor, business, and government officials, stopped short of what some wanted—the declaration of an energy crisis.

The state's Energy Research and Development Agency (ERDA), at another special meeting Sunday, advocated the more serious designation, saying it would give the governor authority to mandate energy controls, not just ask for cooperation.

However, at a late Sunday news conference, Rhodes pointed out, and legislative leaders agreed, that the law enabling him to declare a crisis contained no enforcement or penalty tools.

All the testimony at the series of Saturday and Sunday hearings, he said, indicated that the only area in which Ohio can make further substantial gas savings is residential.

He said the state has no way to determine who is violating a mandated, 65-degree thermostat, and that while he might want to try something more drastic later, "we've got to give the people the chance to cooperate."

Rhodes said he is asking the news media to help the campaign for voluntary conservation, and that he either will make a televised appeal himself or ask Ohio's clergymen to join in such an effort.

The 67-year-old governor clearly was perplexed with lawyers around him debating what can be done or cannot be done under a 1974 energy law, which so far has done little but confuse.

"I don't care if it is a crisis, an emergency, or a catastrophe — it's all the same. We have to do what we can, and now, not next year," he declared.

Rhodes' pitch for voluntary controls asks residential natural gas users to observe 65-degree settings in daytime and 55 degrees at night, to close off unused rooms, utilize fireplaces where possible and reduce thermostats to 45 for vacations.

For shops, stores, and other business places, including offices, he is asking the same temperature controls and adding a request to turn off hot water in rest rooms. Schools, which would have been forced to close for 30 days under ERDA's recommendation for mandatory controls, are asked by the governor to observe 65-degree temperatures.

Many schools around the state have closed voluntarily since the crunch began. A manufacturers' spokesman estimated Sunday that about 25,000-30,000 factory workers have been sent home, and predicted the figure will reach 100,000 by Feb. 1 when further major industrial gas curtailments are planned.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, appeared with the governor to announce the special session of the legislature, which was to have been in recess until Feb. 1.

Ocasek said the special session was called so that the lawmakers "will be prepared to act immediately in the light of Ohio's present energy situation."

Rhodes' declaration of an energy emergency was in the same form as one he issued Thursday for the 24-county area served by the Dayton Power & Light Co. This time, however, the order applies statewide.

Rhodes made no requests for schools to close, at least for the time being, and no mention was made to limiting business operations throughout the state to 40 hours a week. The state energy agency, in Rhodes' absence last week, sought to shut down schools and restrict business operations in Dayton only to learn it lacked the authority.

Rhodes said he is asking the Ohio National Guard, along with the state's mayors, to be ready to deal with "human and logistics emergencies," such as disruptions in fuel supplies.

Carter Wants A-Test Halt, Arms Sales Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is calling for a halt to all nuclear testing, "instantly and completely," as part of a broader program to curb the spread of nuclear weapons and ultimately ban them from the earth.

In his first interview as President, conducted Sunday for publication today, Carter acknowledged that he did not know whether the Soviet Union would agree to his proposal for a quick halt that would stop even underground testing. But, he said, "They have sent an encouraging message back."

The fledgling President, meeting in his Oval Office with four reporters for The Associated Press and United Press International, also expressed optimism that there will be "fairly rapid ratification" of a new strategic arms limitation treaty with the Soviets.

And he said his National Security Council is in agreement on the need to reduce overseas sales of American-made weapons, but that he does not anticipate "a moratorium" on such sales.

On strategic arms talks, Carter hinted that he might be willing to bypass for later consideration a long-standing East-West debate over how to deal with the U.S. cruise missile and Soviet backfire bomber in any new strategic arms pact. He declared: "I would not let those two items stand in the way of some agreement."

Asserting that he "very deeply" meant what he said in his inaugural address about ultimately eliminating all nuclear weapons everywhere, Carter, in his most detailed national security-foreign policy statement to date, envisioned a three-step effort aiming toward that end.

ROUNDTOWN

JIMMY Carter's inauguration was witnessed Thursday by two people from Circleville. . . Mr. and Mrs. Don Frazier, 430 Ruth Ave. saw the president during the parade, then attended one of the balls at Union Station. . . Mrs. Frazier said it was "a once in a lifetime opportunity," which they just couldn't pass up.

—First, he said, the two superpowers would have to "put firm limits on ourselves," as the objective of a new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT).

—Then the United States and the Soviet Union would go a step further and actually reduce their own stockpiles of atomic weapons which would, he said, "demonstrate to the world we are sincere."

—From that point he would seek "reductions including all nations, even those who have a relatively small inventory now."

"I would like to proceed quickly and aggressively with a comprehensive test ban treaty," he said. "I am in favor of eliminating the testing of all nuclear devices, instantly and completely." He said this included underground testing as well.

And, the President said, the United States will use "every means available to us" to keep nuclear arms from spreading to countries that do not have them now.

Carter's apparent optimism about prospects for negotiations with the Soviets was matched by an expression of confidence that a Middle East peace conference is "very likely this year."

Asked if he would approve Palestinian representation at such a meeting, the President said the matter has not been decided but that Palestinian participation "would probably be as part of one of the Arab delegations."

In a relaxed mood, Carter spoke softly, discussing these other topics, ranging from personnel problems to a self-confessed awe at finding himself living in the home of presidential giants of history:

—"I feel quite at ease about the percentage of blacks" named to high administration posts, he said, but declared, "I wish that we could get (Continued on Page 2)

Military Pensions Seen Out Of Hand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon will pay more to retired military personnel this year than the Army pays to all active duty soldiers.

This growing pension expense is more than the Air Force has budgeted this year to buy planes and missiles.

And it is more than this year's Navy budget for shipbuilding.

Since 1962, the total defense budget has almost doubled, rising from $51.1 billion to this year's $100.1 billion. But the cost of military pensions has grown nearly tenfold to $8.2 billion.

In 1962, military pensions amounted to 13 1/2 per cent of the Defense Department budget. For 1977, the pensions amount to 8.2 per cent of the defense budget.

In the next fiscal year, the cost will probably reach $9 billion, and it will be pushing $10 billion in the year after that.

Unless changes are made in the system, the annual pension cost could exceed $30 billion by the year 2000, according to an estimate by the congressional General Accounting Office. That estimate is based on holding inflation to 5 per cent a year until then.

The GAO also estimated that the nation would spend a total of $424 billion on military pensions between now and the end of the century. That's more than the current annual federal budget and almost equal to two-thirds of the national debt.

The costs of military pensions have grown rapidly because they are pegged to active-duty pay, which has been increased to attract an all-volunteer force.

The number of military pensioners also has more than doubled since before the Vietnam war. There now are more than 1 million persons getting Pentagon pensions, and the number is expected to increase to 1.3 million by 1980.

This year's $8.23 billion pension bill tops the $8.19 billion budgeted for pay,

Mondale Tells NATO U.S. Contribution May Be Increased

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Vice President Walter F. Mondale told the North Atlantic Alliance today that President Carter is considering increases in the U.S. contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization despite his plans to cut the Pentagon budget.

Mondale, in a speech to the North Atlantic Council, said the new President is determined to reduce waste and inefficiency in U.S. military spending.

"His new budget and these efficiencies will not result in any decrease in planned investments in NATO defense, and these plans involve some growth," Mondale said.

He added that Carter told him he is prepared to consider increasing the U.S. investment in NATO's defense.

The speech, a highlight of the first stop on Mondale's 10-day tour of America's leading allies, was made behind closed doors, but copies were made available later.

Mondale told the council: "It is easy to lose sight of the need for adequate defense," particularly in a time of détente. "But his need is inescapable. It demands continuing efforts in common," he declared.

The vice president's day started with a promise to Belgian Premier Leon Tindemans that the European Common Market would have its own separate representative at the summit economic conference of leading industrial non-Communist nations this spring.

Mondale and Tindemans met over breakfast. The vice president told reporters afterward the Belgian gave him "good wishes and many fine suggestions that we can use in the development of our policies."

Mondale's pledge that the Common Market would be represented by its own delegation at the summit and not by its biggest members was in response to complaints of Belgium and other smaller members that they were not properly represented at the two previous meetings held in France and Puerto Rico.

Mondale said this first meeting of his 10-day tour marked the start of a "very close, cooperative, respectful relationship with the governments of Western Europe."

The vice president's schedule today also included meetings with leaders of the Dutch government, the Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Mondale on his arrival in Brussels Sunday night said his mission is to make clear to Western Europe and Japan that the Carter administration seeks "the closest possible cooperative relationship with them."

Congress Takes Up Nomination Of Trio

WASHINGTON (AP) — With amnesty and three controversial Cabinet appointments as the issues, President Carter's first full week in the White House may provide clues as to how well he and the Democratic Congress are going to get along.

This week also will give Congress and the nation the first detailed account of the two-year economic stimulation program the new President wants enacted.

Hearings on the economy open today before the House Budget Committee with Alice M. Rivlin, congressional budget director, as leadoff witness.

Thomas B. Lance, director of the White House Office of Management and Budget, is scheduled to appear before the committee on Thursday to outline details of the Carter administration's $23 billion to $30 billion package of tax cuts and job-creating programs.

A vote was scheduled today in the Senate on a petition to cut off debate on a resolution expressing Senate disapproval of any amnesty for Vietnam war resisters.

But backers of the resolution were uncertain they would pursue their effort because Carter got the jump on them by unexpectedly pardoning a broad range of draft resisters Friday. Even if passed, the resolution would not be binding on the President.

The Cabinet appointees awaiting Senate action are Griffin B. Bell, named by Carter to be attorney general; Joseph Califano, named to be secretary of health, education and welfare, and F. Ray Marshall, nominated as secretary of labor.

The Senate already had agreed to vote on Califano late today after two scheduled hours of debate, most of which is likely to center on his position opposed to use of any federal funds for abortions.

Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., a leader of the opposition to Califano, contends that cutting off federal funds for abortions would have the effect of limiting abortions to those wealthy enough to pay for them.

Despite the opposition, Califano is expected to win confirmation by a wide margin.

Marshall has run into opposition from Republican conservatives upset because he favors repeal of a section of the Taft-Hartley Act which authorizes states to enact right-to-work laws. Repeal of the section is a longstanding goal of organized labor.

A vote on Bell was scheduled for Tuesday with eight hours set aside for debate. The Atlanta lawyer and former federal judge also is expected to be confirmed, despite opposition from some civil rights groups.

Three senators voted in the Judiciary Committee to oppose sending Bell's name to the Senate floor. The three votes against Bell came from Republicans — Sens. Charles Mathias of Maryland, John Chafee of Rhode Island and John Heinz III of Pennsylvania.

All the committee Democrats, including liberals who ordinarily might side with the civil rights groups that opposed Bell, voted for him, an indication of their reluctance to get into an early conflict with the new Democratic President.

allowances and travel for all Army personnel, the $6.19 billion for Navy shipbuilding and the $7.92 billion for Air Force missile and aircraft procurement.

The military pension system is more generous than the federal government's civilian retirement system and all major private pension plans. By some calculations, it is several times more generous.

Today, a typical career E-7 sergeant retires at age 41 after 22 years of service. He or she would draw $534 a month in retirement pay, starting immediately, for life.

Calls for change in the system are now coming from several different directions, including the Pentagon itself. None of the proposals calls for cutting payments to those already retired, and military lobbying groups generally oppose reducing benefits to future retirees.

Cold Front Brings More White Stuff

By The Associated Press
A cold front that dumped up to four inches of snow further to the west is adding to what's already on the ground in the Ohio Valley states.

Snow fell from Kentucky and West Virginia across Ohio and Indiana into much of the Great Lakes region this morning. It was mixed with freezing drizzle in lower Michigan.

Eastern states expected more snow with freezing rain and sleet as the frontal system moved in that direction. Travel advisories were up in Ohio, southeast Illinois, West Virginia, western Pennsylvania and the mountains of Virginia and Maryland.

A winter storm watch was posted over northwestern South Carolina. Travel advisories were up for sleet and freezing rain in Tennessee and north Georgia.

South of the snow, rain fell through the southern states to the Gulf coast. Dense fog required travel advisories around Port Arthur, Tex., and patchy fog was forming over the mid-Mississippi Valley states.

Temperatures this morning ranged from a high of 63 at Brownsville, Tex., to a low of 1 below zero at Waterloo, Iowa.

Weather

Snow today and tonight with a possible accumulation of one to two inches. High today in the lower 30s with a low near 20 tonight. Cloudy with a chance of snow flurries Tuesday with a high in the lower 30s. Chances of precipitation, 100 per cent today, 80 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Tuesday. Saturday's high was 23 with a low of minus eight. It reached 25 degrees Sunday with a low during the night of 21 degrees. One-inch of new snow fell during the past 24 hours leaving a total of 10 inches on the ground.

Two Fires Strike County

DESTROYED — This is all that remains of a mobile home that was occupied by the Clarence W. Davis family, 18935 Island Rd. after fire struck the dwelling at 12:23 a.m. Sunday. Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Office reported two fires in the county over the weekend.

The most severe of the two occurred at 12:23 a.m. Sunday at a mobile home occupied by the Clarence W. Davis family, 18935 Island Road.

The report states that Davis was returning home when he spotted the smoke coming from the mobile home. After evacuating his family, he contacted the Sheriff's office.

Units from the Circleville Fire

R. L. Phillips and Auxiliary Deputy Cecil Hatfield reported that the fire spread too rapidly for units from the Circleville Fire Department to contain the blaze. All the family's belongings were destroyed.

Department were dispatched to the scene, but the fire had already spread too rapidly to be contained.

According to the report, the contents of the trailer, including several antiques, were totally destroyed, and were not insured.

The blaze was believed to have started in the area of the furnace, then spread through the flooring and into the walls. No injuries were reported.

The other fire occurred at 2:04 p.m.

at the Darvin J. Conley residence in Era. The Mt. Sterling Police Department reported the blaze to the Sheriff's office.

Units from the Mt. Sterling Fire Department responded to the blaze which was limited to the insulation that surrounded a new fireplace in the home. Damage was confined to the insulation and the stones which were removed to gain access to the smoldering insulation.

Cabinet Members Hold 1st Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter held his first business session today with his Cabinet and pledged to "run the affairs of the federal government through you" and to be "always available in person and by telephone."

Carter and his Cabinet members took seats around the long table in the White House Cabinet room. A fire crackled in the fireplace.

"This is going to be a learning process for all of us, especially at first," Carter said and invited suggestions at any time for improvements in the way he runs what he has called his "Cabinet administration of our government."

"If there is a message you'd like to get to me I'm always available in person and by telephone," Carter said. "I'm going to run the affairs of the federal government through you. This hasn't been the case in the past."

A dozen Cabinet members and Cabinet-level officers were sworn in Sunday at the White House, and Carter emphasized then that his White House staff will not dominate Cabinet secretaries. Three more Cabinet members still await confirmation by the Senate.

"The secretaries will run their departments," Carter said as a dozen of his Cabinet-level officers took the oath of office Sunday in a White House ceremony.

"There will never be an instance, while I am President, when the members of the White House staff dominate or act in a superior position to the members of our Cabinet," the President said. "When a directive is relayed from the White House to members of the Cabinet, it will indeed come directly from me."

Although Carter reserved major decisions as his constitutional prerogative and responsibility, he declared that otherwise he believes in "a Cabinet administration of our government."

Carter had a busy day Sunday. He gave Vice President Walter F. Mondale a White House sendoff as Mondale opened a 10-day around-the-world tour. Mondale is meeting with NATO and Common Market officials in Belgium and will visit the heads of state in West Germany, Italy, England, France and Japan.

The President also spent 2½ hours at the First Baptist Church, where President Truman once worshipped. The Carters asked to join. By show of hands, church members recommended them to the membership committee.

Carter will teach adult Sunday school at the congregation, which is 174 years old. His daughter, Amy, 9, will be baptized there.

The Cabinet installation, by U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, was attended by families, guests and members of Congress. They applauded as the officials took the oath together, hands on Bibles held by their spouses.

There were no ruffles, flourishes or "Hail to the Chief." Carter said he decided to forego them, apparently part of his effort to reduce the imperial image of the presidency. Instead, an orchestra in the White House foyer played "Georgia on My Mind."

Carter said he is proud of his Cabinet: "It is a superb group."

more women, in particular, in the top levels of government.

—He expressed no surprise at the reaction both for and against his blanket pardon Friday of Vietnam-era draft evaders who were not guilty of violent acts. Carter said: "It is something that should have been done. I was very grateful to be the one to do it."

—"Within the next week or two," he said, "I will make my first report to the American people on what we have already achieved and the time schedule for additional proposals."

—He defended his "economic stimulus" plan, which could cost as much as $30 billion over two years, and indicated there could be room for some five-and-take with Congress, particularly if economic circumstances should change in the next few months.

But he said if Congress tried to drastically alter what he is proposing "it would delay the beneficial impact of the economic stimulus package and hurt our country."

Some senators and House members have said they want to expand the jobs program Carter favors, but the President contended, "even if substantial amounts of additional money were appropriated for those programs, it would be very difficult to administer them effectively."

Carter disclosed that at his first National Security Council meeting Saturday, members were unanimous in embracing "the necessity for reducing arms sales or having very tight restraints on future commitments" to deliver weapons to other countries.

"I have asked," he said, "that all approvals of arms sales, for a change, be submitted to me directly before the recommendations go to Congress."

The President said Vice President Walter F. Mondale, who is on a globe-circling trip this week, will be asking allies who are heavy arms exporters to join the United States in curbing the arms traffic.

Hocking Hills Park Hike Draws 2,000

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — Temperatures hovered in the mid-20s and a bright sun found its way into the deepest hollows as upwards of 2,000 people took part in the annual mid-winter Hocking Hills State Park hike Saturday.

Temperatures that haven't gone above freezing since Christmas helped the streams and water falls in the park build spectacular ice formations along the six-mile route that mostly follows Hocking Creek through the park.

The 10-12 inches of snow in the region was akin to loose, dry beach sand. Hikers struggled to keep their footing alongside cliffs and streams and through some rock cuts so narrow that overweight hikers wiggled through sideways or walked around.

"It was some of the most beautiful ice formations I've seen in years," Bob Conkle, acting park manager, said. "Conditions were just perfect for hiking."

He said by late afternoon the bright sun began having an effect on spring water that bubbles out of some park cliffs. Another day of sunshine, he said, may cause some of the massive icicles to start breaking.

Conkle said only two hikers required medical assistance, a boy with an injured finger and a young girl who was given oxygen and escorted out apparently because of an asthma condition.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources annually sponsors the hike in the southeast Ohio park. A civic club orks with the department to set up a soup kitchen that affords a break midway along the trail.

Tractor Safety Clinics Offered To Farm Wives

Most people don't realize the farmer's wife helps a great deal with the farm operation. Not only does she tend to the household chores, she also drives tractors and maneuvers large equipment around the acres.

To help these women operate machinery safely, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation (OFBF) is sponsoring a pilot tractor and machinery safety program in six counties.

The sessions, planned exclusively for women, are jointly sponsored by OFBF Women's Committees and Extension Homemakers groups in Medina, Sandusky, Greene, Auglaize, Coshocton and Fairfield counties.

According to Jean Werts, director of OFBF Women's Activities, the purpose of the program is to help women operate farm machinery safely and also to influence other family members to be safer when working on the farm.

The county programs will be one-day sessions conducted by Clair Young, safety specialist, the Cooperative Extension Service, and Delbert Byg, Extension Agriculture Engineer.

The workshops will cover basic points of safety relating to farm equipment.

"If participating in a workshop like this will save one life or prevent one accident, then it will be very profitable," says Miss Werts.

If the pilot program is successful, the workshops will be offered statewide. Dates and places for the workshops are: Feb. 9, Medina County, Medina County Joint Vocational School; Feb. 15, Sandusky County, Vickery Fire Hall; Feb. 17, Greene County, General Keiber Armory; Feb. 19, Auglaize County, Wapakoneta High School; Feb. 26, Coshocton County, Riverview High School; and March 3, Fairfield County, Liberty Union High School.

management committee in the development department, consisting of representatives from all segments of Ohio society who are affected by the fuel crunch. He said he is asking President Carter to allocate more natural gas and alternate fuels to the state.

The governor's action came only a few hours after a morning meeting of ERDA at which its members agreed without dissent to ask the governor to declare an energy crisis.

However, the members had delayed a formal vote until later in the day to let them decide whether to include fuels other than natural gas in their recommendation.

Rhodes, who had slapped the agency on the wrist late in the week for attempting to impose mandatory controls in Dayton, denied he was ignoring ERDA. "I welcome their recommendations, they do a good job," he said, adding that he expected to receive ERDA's recommendations on Monday. Later, ERDA Chairman William Ferguson said he did not know if the agency would meet again before Tuesday.

It wanted not only that a crisis be declared, but also to mandate 30-day school closings statewide; restrict businesses to 40 hours a week, and require all thermostats on 65-degree settings even though ERDA admitted they couldn't be enforced.

Rhodes' meetings on Sunday were with spokesmen for the propane and fuel oil industry, including those of Sohio, Ashland Oil, Shell Oil, Union Oil Co., Marathon, and Gulf Oil Co., all of whom said generally they are taking care of present customers but do have severe delivery problems and could not absorb more business.

The governor also heard problems,

NATO Force In Disarray, Panel Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — NATO's armed forces are in such disarray and poor condition that they possibly could not withstand an attack by the Warsaw Pact nations of Eastern Europe, says a new Senate report.

In an unusually grim report to the Senate Armed Services Committee, Sens. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., and Dewey Bartlett, R-Kla., said Soviet forces in Eastern Europe have the capability to launch, with little warning, a "potentially devastating" attack in central Europe.

"The significance of a Pact capability to launch such an attack from virtually a standing start cannot be exaggerated," said the report, released as the Armed Services Committee prepared to open annual hearings on U.S. military posture and weapons needs.

The Senate report, made after a tour of NATO countries, called for a top priority conference of NATO political and military leaders.

more of a long range nature, of the state's independent oil and gas drillers. He planned to meet today with electric utility spokesmen with regard to environmental restrictions on the industrial use of Ohio's high sulfur coal, a related and just as important a problem, Rhodes said.

Deputies Check Accidents

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated an injury accident Sunday afternoon.

According to the report, Karen S. Garrett, 28, was traveling east on State Route 56, six tenths of a mile east of Tarlton Road, when a tri-rod vehicle, driven by Ty A. Caudill, 14, 8550 State Route 56 East, pulled into her path.

Caudill received a laceration to his tongue and a bruise to his right leg. He was taken to the Berger Hospital Emergency Room by a passing motorist. Deputy Bill Huffman investigated the incident.

A 5:50 p.m. Saturday accident resulted in a citation for a motorist.

According to the report, Ray E. Rayburn, 22, Ashville, was southbound on Ashville Pike, and was approaching the intersection of Duvall Road, when a car driven by William O. Wallace, 17, 813 Poplar Grove, pulled from Duvall Road and struck Rayburn's auto in the side. There were no injuries.

Deputy Bill Huffman cited Wallace for failure to yield the right of way.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — A letup in concern over the interest rate outlook helped the stock market move ahead today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose about a point at the outset, and gainers took a 3-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

After the NYSE close Friday, the Federal Reserve reported a decline in the basic measure of the money supply.

Analysts said that news eased fears that the Fed might soon tighten up a bit on credit by fostering a rise in short term interest rates.

Another plus was a published report that President Carter's plan for economic stimulus might include an increase in the investment tax credit.

Today's early prices included Westinghouse Electric, up ½ at 17½; American Home Products, ahead ¾ at 28¾, and American Airlines, up ½ at 14 ½.

Technology Spread

How difficult it is to limit trading in highly sophisticated military technology once it has been released to anyone is revealed again by two recent cases. From Greece comes the report that several nations, Greece included, have been purchasing electronic gear for American warplanes manufactured in Israel under U.S. license.

The equipment in question was denied export licenses from U.S. manufacturers.

In another case, the British are considering a $17 million proposal to sell jet engine fuel and air flow control systems to the Soviet Union which could be used to improve the Backfire bomber. The Backfire is considered a strategic threat by U.S. officials and has become a major obstacle to the conclusion of a SALT II agreement with the Soviets.

With trade balances upset all across the industrial world by the oil cartel's pricing policies, the temptation to enter into trade agreements which are questionable from a defense standpoint increases. Involved, also, are differences in national interpretations over what is considered strategic trade.

The United States frowns on the sale of modified fuel systems for jet engines, but it gave its approval to U.S. companies to help construct the world's largest truck assembly plant in the Soviet Union. What it boils down to is the nearly impossible task of preventing the spread of technology once that technology has been implemented anywhere.

James Earl Ray

By JIM BISHOP

The white Mustang cruised the streets of Memphis slowly. James Earl Ray was ready for his "one big lick." The Memphis newspaper stated that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was staying at the Lorraine Motel with his entourage. The Smiler had to find a room facing King's quarters.

A loser works twice as hard as a winner. Driving past the Lorraine, Ray surely noticed that the backs of sleazy rooming houses on Main Street looked down on King's room. The distance was 225 feet. Starting through a rifle scope, the target would appear to be 32 feet distant.

It is certain that he had help. His car trunk held men's clothing suitable for a short slender man — not Ray's size. The ashtray was deep with dead butts. Ray never smoked. The car carpet on the right front seat was thick with caked mud. Ray was obsessively neat.

On April 1st, 1968, the Smiler had $10.50 in cash. Two days later he had $1,050 in his pocket. His anonymous boss told him how to get out of town: go a few blocks to the Arkansas — Riverside Drive, turn left, go down Route 55, make a right and drive across the Memphis-Arkansas Bridge and head for Birmingham. Or get on 78 and into the state of Mississippi.

There would be money. Lots of it. An airline ticket was ready for a flight to Canada. From there to London. Then on to Lisbon for a final conference before flying to Rhodesia. The U.S. had no extradition treaty with Rhodesia. It was a place, he had been told, where the blacks "knew their place."

The rooming house on Main was a cheap, no-questions-asked, cash-in-advance place. Bessie Brewer was accustomed to unwashed drunks. She looked up at Ray and saw a brown suit, a figured tie, a clean, smiling face. He wanted a room in the back.

She had a 5-B. There was a 6-B, next to the bathroom, but it was occupied by a man and a woman. Ray paid Mrs. Brewer $8.50 for a week's rent. After that he spent considerable time in and out of the bathroom. As always, Ray had forgotten something. Binoculars.

It was 3:30 p.m., April 4th. The sun would be down at 6:30. He drove to the York Arms Company, near Beale Street, and bought 7-by-50 glasses. He was impatient to pay the $41.55. When he returned to Main, he found a parking space in front of Mrs. Brewer's rooming house.

In Room 6-B, Charles Stephens and his common-law wife heard the whispered footsteps in and out of the bathroom. Ray locked himself in. He stood in the bathtub, punched a rusty screen out and down into the yard, and raked the porch of the Lorraine with the binoculars. Someone turned the bathroom doorknob, and walked away. Someone came back. Ray said, "In a minute!" His fingerprints were all over the windowsill, on the wall, and on the tub. He left. He waited. He returned. The second floor porch of the Lorraine was alive with traffic.

At 6 p.m. a limousine stopped below the porch. The blacks began to emerge from Room 306 of the Lorraine. The Rev. Billy Kyles said they had to leave at once for dinner. He waited on an outside stairwell. The Rev. Andrew Young started down the steps.

Neighborhood blacks collected around the limousine, looking up. They wanted, just once, to see the round face of the man who fought their fight in peace. The Rev. Jesse Jackson watched Dr. King emerge from his room, patting aftershave lotion. "You remember Ben Branch?" Jackson said.

King stopped at the rail and looked down. "I remember him from Chicago," he said. "He played 'Precious Lord.' " The Rev. Bernard Lee said that Dr. King should wear a topcoat. Across the street, the Smiler put the binoculars down, pulled the heavy rifle up, and stared through the crosshairs.

"Ben," King said, "make sure you play 'Precious Lord, Take My Hand.' Play it real pretty for me." "Hey guys," Kyles yelled. "Come on." Jesse Jackson looked up at King and said "Oh, Doc..."

There was a sound like two flat boards being slapped together. The bullet, flying three times the speed of sound, caught Dr. King a half-inch below the right side of his hip, shattered his jaw, moved downward and severed his spinal cord. The shot slammed him backwards against the wall.

A white man emerged from Room 308. He was James Laue, sent by the FBI to shadow Dr. King wherever he went. He was too late to do anything.

James Earl Ray was spotted by a roomer, Willy Anchues, as he left the bathroom. "That sounded like a shot," Anchues said. Ray nodded. "Yes," he said. "It was."

Was there a conspiracy to kill Dr. King? You bet there was...

Deputies Institute Snowmobile Patrol

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Two sheriff's deputies have traded their squad cars for a pair of snowmobiles, helping people in trouble on frozen lakes and wooded trails and nabbing an occasional snow speeder.

Richard Fenske and Robert Pavey of the Dane County sheriff's office will be moving back into autos in the spring, but for now they're enjoying their snowy patrol — despite the cold temperatures and bitter winds that surround them on the job.

"It's not easy when you're out there writing a citation in the middle of a blizzard," Pavey said. "When you're on the road you've always got your car and some place to do your paperwork."

Fenske, 40, and Pavey, 36, cruise the county's hundreds of miles of lake and trail country much as other deputies patrol roadways.

Their snowmobiles are equipped with flashing red lights, and "we're getting sirens pretty soon," Fenske said.

The two officers said they're sometimes so bundled up in bulky clothing, masks and helmets that their appearance prompts mirth among fellow officers. And they worry that all their thermal wear could give them trouble retrieving weapons from underneath. Fenske said he and his partner work "both as a law enforcement patrol and a safety patrol."

They have ticketed snowmobilers for such violations as not being certified, having an unregistered machine, reckless driving and passing too close to pedestrians.

"We don't hesitate to write citations, but we like to treat the public as they deserve to be treated, which is generally good," Fenske said.

They've also helped a pregnant woman to the hospital, brought medicine and groceries to snowbound people and headed off a wild snowmobile headed for open water.

Snowmobiles can reach 100 miles per hour, and patrol work makes for hair-raising chases.

Fenske said their patrol elicits a strange reaction from other snowmobilers, but "the general reception is that they're glad to see us out."

He has even had a number of favorable comments and thankyou's from people he's ticketed — something that he said rarely happens to a deputy in a car.

The two deputies are on patrol four days a week, 10 hours a day, including many nights and weekends.

What do they do on their days off? Says Fenske: "We go snowmobiling with our families."

Streams of Pickaway County were falling steadily in the wake of a blizzard that swept through this section several days earlier. Both vehicular and train traffic to and from Circleville was halted by the flood and blizzard.

Canned foods, totaling two tons, was collected in Circleville in two hours to help relieve the suffering flood victims in Southern Ohio.

After three days, the Scioto River in Circleville crested at 21.13 feet. The flood stage was a full three feet below the 1913 flood stage of 24.2 feet which occurred March 25.

Refugees from Southern Ohio crowded into Circleville's churches and lodges in the wake of the Scioto River flooding. Reports indicated 341 flood refugees were cared for.

In 1837, the Ohio Legislature passed its famous Loan Law by which credit of the state was used in promoting public works and some private enterprises. This legislation prevented serious financial difficulties within the state during the panic of 1837.—AP

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Physicians rarely see patients who, in addition to their physical symptoms, do not also have some overtones of anxiety.

This combination of fear and illness can be severely debilitating. Far too often, the anxieties are more destructive than the diseases which bring the patients to the doctors' offices.

Sometimes, even mature people consider it to be a sign of weakness if they give vent to their emotional problems. Yet once they begin to express their fears to the doctor and relieve themselves of hidden anxieties, the basic problems of their physical health can more readily be understood.

Physicians now know that the art of medicine is to recognize anxiety and to stimulate their patients to reveal their fears.

There is no shame, in this hectic world of ours, to be burdened by neurotic tendencies. In fact, it is remarkable that so many people are able to cope with their problems, produce a good day's work and carry on their family and social obligations.

There are others, however, who are unable to be serviceable to themselves, to their families and to their community, because they continue to allow fear to luxuriate in darkness.

The expression of anxiety to a doctor opens up new horizons for personal happiness and for emancipation from the burdens of fear. Physicians have learned that when they help patients to cope with the stresses of living there is greater ease of adjusting to both the physical and the emotional problems that surround them.

The need for psychological guidance, if it is suggested by the doctor, should not be stubbornly resisted by the patient. Many are too vain to accept such a suggestion and state that they would "rather work it out" themselves.

Deep-seated emotional problems are rarely worked out in this way. The kind, solicitous suggestions of family and friends may seem to be beneficial. The chances are greater, however, that emotional conflicts will continue to flourish in the absence of professional guidance.

Stadium Costs $1; You Must Move It

AMES, Iowa (AP) — If you've always wanted to own a place where you could invite 36,000 of your friends to spend the afternoon, Iowa State University is selling just the item for you — its old football stadium.

You might be able to pick it up for as little as $1.

The catch is that picking it up is literally what you'll have to do — first dismantle the arena, then transport the parts, store them and reassemble them.

"It's like a jigsaw," said John Pace, ISU's director of space and scheduling. "We ran ads about six months ago in several national school journals and we had about 20 schools express some interest," he said.

"But their interest died fast," he added. "After they studied it, they found it would be cheaper to build a new stadium."

Iowa State vacated 60-year-old Clyde Williams Field in 1975 when its football team, the Cyclones, moved into a new $7.6 million stadium.

School authorities originally planned to tear down the old stadium on the southwest edge of the campus and turn it into a recreational park, keeping only the stadium's cinder track.

But that would have cost an estimated $200,000, and the school is trying to find a less expensive way to get rid of the stadium.

Right now it's being used only for storage and to house part of the music department.

"We can't just give it away," said Pace. "State law requires sealed bids on items worth $1,000 or more."

He said he hoped that if potential buyers knew they might be able to get the stadium for a dollar, a few might start bidding.

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

Just a word of praise for our fine Circleville Police Department. During the holiday season we had an attempted break-in at 3:30 a.m. A hurried phone call to the police department brought an immediate response. They arrived within seconds. In fact it seemed as though I had just put the phone down when they came. The two courteous business like officers made a thorough, rapid search of the area and before leaving they assured us that they would make frequent checks during the remainder of the night. They also told us to notify the department when we planned to be away overnight and they would be happy to check the house periodically.

We always thought that it couldn't happen to us. It was a bad experience but it was good in that it proved to us that we have excellent police protection.

We can be proud of our police force. This is just one of the many benefits of living in Circleville—a great place to reside.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

"President Gerald Ford's final budget recommends continued support for the conservation and development of Southern Ohio's vital water resources," Congressman William H. Harsha said today.

The Fiscal 1978 Budget request contains $16.7 million for seven important water resource development projects in or affecting Harsha's Sixth Congressional District.

Included as budget items for the Corps of Engineers Civil Works Program are funding recommendations for Caesar Creek Lake, Alum Creek Lake, East Fork Lake, Paint Creek Lake, Deer Creek Lake, the Chillicothe Floodwall, and Ohio River port development.

In addition to funds for these public works projects, $3.5 million is being requested for a nationwide stream-bank erosion control, evaluation and demonstration program.

Construction on three Sixth District streambank erosion projects has already been approved under this program. Projects at Portsmouth and Moscow on the Ohio River and Milford on the Little Miami River were made possible through Harsha's amendment to the Water Resources Development Act of 1974.

The new budget also includes $70,000 for investigations into the feasibility of additional navigation improvements in connection with the State of Ohio's port development program along the Ohio River. As ranking Republican on the House Public Works and Transportation Committee, Harsha sponsored the survey resolution authorizing the port study.

Construction funds totalling $5 million, plus $222,000 for operation and maintenance are recommended in the budget for Caesar Creek Lake. The reservoir under construction will reduce flood damage on the Little Miami River. It is also expected to provide recreational benefits, as well as water supply and water quality control.

For construction on East Fork Lake, the Ford budget recommends $3,400,000, as well as $224,000 for operation and maintenance. The project is expected to provide flood protection along the Ohio Valley and to store water for municipal and industrial use.

The budget recommends $2,600,000 in construction funds for the Chillicothe Floodwall, which will provide protection from Scioto River flooding.

Recommended for the Alum Creek Lake project are $4,300,000 in construction funds and $228,000 for operation and maintenance activities. The project provides flood control in the Alum Creek and Big Walnut Creek Valleys and is an additional water supply for the Columbus metropolitan area.

The budget recommends $320,000 for operation and maintenance of the Paint Creek Lake project, which is part of a coordinated system of flood protection in the Scioto and Ohio River Valleys. It also provides water supply storage for Greenfield.

Deer Creek Lake is slated to receive $418,000 for operation and maintenance activities. The project is operated for reduction of flood damages in the Deer Creek Valley and as part of the flood protection system in the Scioto and Ohio River Valleys.

Blaze Kills 5 Children; 2 Injured

JACKSON CENTER, Ohio (AP) — Janet Cowart had to stay with neighbors Sunday night when released from the hospital. Her home was destroyed in a fire earlier in the day that killed five of her seven children. The surviving two remained in intensive care.

Firemen said the blaze that swept through the house about 9 a.m. started under a water heater. Flames quickly blocked the woman's downstairs exit and trapped all of the children upstairs.

The 32-year-old woman, who lived alone with her children, crawled to safety through the bathroom window next to her bedroom. Two children were able to survive because a passerby had a ladder on his truck, firemen said.

Plumber Marvin Rostorfer said he was going to a trouble call when Mrs. Cowart stopped him. "She said her children were trapped in the house. Fire was coming out all over the place," Rostorfer said.

"Neighbors said two kids were standing at one of the upstairs windows," he said.

"We tried to get them to jump, but the girl apparently had passed out. The boy was pretty close to going under," said Rostorfer. He then remembered the ladder on his truck.

"I went up and got the girl out, but she slipped from my hands and fell," he said. Ruth Smith, 14, was in the intensive care unit of a Sidney hospital with injuries resulting from the 15-foot fall.

"The boy got out on his own okay," Rostorfer said. Russell Smith, 11, was held at the hospital for observation.

"By the time I got them out, the smoke was too heavy for me to get to the others," the plumber said.

Firemen recovered the bodies of Betty Smith, 16; Brenda Smith, 13; Julie Smith, 10; David Cowart, 7, and Carrie Cowart, 4, Shelby County deputies said.

Firemen said the name differences resulted from the woman's two marriages.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Persons in trouble are often advised to "talk to your clergyman." If you do, how confidential is the conversation? Could the clergyman be forced to reveal your secrets in a court of law?

Under the common law rule, he could indeed. Such statements, unlike a client's statements to an attorney, were not considered "privileged."

However, most states have now changed that rule. Today, almost everywhere, your secrets would be safe.

"The fundamental thought," a court explained, "is that one may safely consult his spiritual adviser. When any person enters that secret chamber, civil authority turns away its ear."

Nevertheless, the privilege of confidentiality is kept within careful limits. For example, protection does not extend to statements made outside the regular discipline of the church.

In one case a man confided to a minister that he was involved in an adulterous affair. But the disclosure occurred during a casual conversation on the sidewalk. A court ruled later that this information was not privileged, since it had not been conveyed in the course of a professional relationship.

Furthermore, the privilege does not apply if the speaker did not have secrecy in mind.

In another case a man arrested for wife beating asked a minister to deliver a message to the wife, asking her to drop charges. Could this message be brought out in the courtroom?

Yes, ruled the judge, because the man's instructions showed he did not consider the message strictly between himself and the minister.

"The mere fact that a communication is made to a lawyer, doctor or priest does not of itself make (it) privileged," said the court. "It (also) must have been made under such circumstances as to imply that it should forever remain a secret in the breast of the adviser."

U.S. Stronger Than Soviets?

PARIS (AP) — The head of a French think tank says the debate in the United States about the possibility of the Soviet Union having achieved military superiority is a false one and U.S. forces are still "clearly dominant."

"It's part of an alarmist campaign of intoxication that just does not reflect the reality of ongoing American superiority," said Gen. Georges Buis in an interview.

Buis was director of the French armed forces' Center for Superior Military Studies when he retired in 1972. He is now president of the Foundation for National Defense Studies, a three-year-old organization partly financed by the French government.

Buis was asked to comment on statements by Lt. Gen. George J. Keegan Jr., former head of U.S. Air Force Intelligence, and former Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld that the favorable balance of power was slipping away from the United States.

"We're watching an old operation that we've seen before," said Buis. "The facts don't back up the statements of alarm. They happen, though, every year when they're about to vote the U.S. military budget and right on schedule with the NATO annual general meeting."

"This year, it's intensified because there's a new president. But on the basis of the information I have, or anyone could have from public documents, it is an intoxication campaign."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Key To Problem Fits The Car

DEAR ABBY: As many others have said, I never thought I'd be writing a letter to Dear Abby, but I must confess, I don't know where to turn.

Our 17-year-old son has become interested in a girl. We've always wanted him to have girlfriends, but this one might not be good for him. A week ago Saturday, on their first date, they went to a movie. (We let him use the family car.) He came home at 7:45 Sunday morning!

He said that after the movie, he went to her house to watch television and they both fell asleep. Last Saturday night he went out at 7 p.m. and came home at 4:30 a.m. Sunday morning. Wouldn't you say that something is drastically wrong with a mother who would allow a 15-year-old girl to keep such hours?

Any advice his father and I give him causes nothing but back talk. We've always had a good relationship with our son until now. What do you suggest?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: I suggest that his father have a man-to-man talk with the boy. Of course the girl's parents should place some restrictions on her with regard to the hours she keeps, but since they do not (or she ignores them), it's up to you to put some on your son. Tell him what time you want him home, and if he doesn't comply, the key to the situation is the one that fits the car.

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion of the following situation:

When friends just drop in, should the hostess excuse herself and put on a pot of coffee, or get a cold drink and serve it with a sandwich, cake, cookies or whatever she has on hand? Or should she ask her guests if they would like a hot drink, a cold one or a sandwich?

My husband and I are on opposite sides of this argument and need you to settle it for us.

MILLIE IN MARYLAND

DEAR MILLIE: The gracious hostess does not inquire. She acts. (P.S. Drop-in visitors should not expect a feed-in.)

DEAR ABBY: For the last 12 years I have gone to the same hairdresser once a week for a shampoo and set. It now costs $6 plus a dollar tip and the cost of parking.

Every Christmas I have given my hairdresser a lovely gift, carefully chosen—something I would like to receive myself.

It just occurred to me, Abby, that inasmuch as I tip my hairdresser every week, SHE (Or the owner) should be giving ME a small present at Christmas in appreciation of my business.

Next year should I ask, "Which would you prefer, a tip every week or a nice Christmas present?"

I would appreciate your opinion and those of your readers and hairdressers.

TIRED OF GIVING

DEAR TIRED: Don't ask. Those who perform personal services NEED tips, but feeling as you do, skip the Christmas gift.

Cumberland Sauce

A La Margaret Costa

Adapted from a delightful but out-of-print English cookery book.

1 large shallot or the white bulb part of a scallion, chopped fine

Rind (yellow part only) of 2 oranges and 1 lemon, cut into very thin strips

8 ounces redcurrant jelly

1½ teaspoons Dijon mustard blended with 1½ tablespoons red wine vinegar

½ cup port wine

Salt and pepper to taste

Cover the shallot with water and bring to a boil; simmer a few minutes and strain, discarding water. Blanch the citrus peel the same way, discarding water. Melt the currant jelly and stir in the shallot, citrus rind, mustard mixture, port and salt and pepper. Simmer until fairly thick — it will thicken more as it cools. Store in the refrigerator.

Italian House OKs Abortion Law

ROME (AP) — Italy's lower house of parliament has passed one of Western Europe's most liberal abortion laws to replace a Mussolini-era ban on abortions as a crime against the purity of the Italian race.

The measure, strongly opposed by the Roman Catholic church and the ruling Christian Democratic party, would give women the final say on abortions within the first three months of pregnancy.

A coalition of parties ranging from Communists to conservative Liberals passed the law 310-296 in Italy's House of Deputies on Friday. It now goes to the Senate, where the coalition is weaker but probably strong enough to pass the bill.

"Demagogic pressures have overcome a truly deep reflection and recognition of the values in play," said the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano. It asked Catholics to rise above "this permissive, agnostic, individualistic, alienated age."

Flamino Piccoli, head of the Christian Democrats in the lower house, called the law a "profound wound to the spirit of our people."

The new law would permit abortion to avoid "serious danger for the physical or mental health of the woman in relation to her state of health, to her economic, social or family condition or to the circumstances in which she conceived, or in anticipation of abnormalities or malformations in the baby to be born."

A woman wanting an abortion would have to consult a doctor, but could make her own decision after a required week of reflection.

After the first 90 days of pregnancy, doctors would have to certify abortions and could do so only if they saw danger to the life of the mother or risk of malformation in the fetus.

"Some judge this law too permissive, others too restrictive," said Communist party leader Enrico Berlinguer. "The majority of parliament is inclined to consider it right and balanced."

"We hope that all, even those who are opposed to the law, will commit themselves to this end," said Berlinguer, who noted that the law urged every effort to avoid abortions through birth control.

Abortion has long been a heated issue in Italian politics and efforts by Christian Democrats and Neo-fascists to block liberalization helped bring down Italy's government last year.

In the national elections that followed, last June, power shifted to the left and gave Communists 228 of the 630 seats in Italy's lower house.

The Christian Democrats have 260 seats in the chamber, giving Premier Giulio Andreotti a minority government which has been able to function only with the cooperation of the Communists.

Scandinavian nations are the only European countries with abortion laws more liberal than the Italian proposal. Abortion is still illegal in Belgium and Holland. Britain and West Germany require a doctor's consent. In France, women can opt for abortion only until the 10th week of pregnancy.

Strollers Block Barges On River

CINCINNATI (AP) — It wasn't much of a day for a stroll, but several hundred persons went for a promenade on the Ohio River Sunday causing a traffic problem for river traffic.

Police on both sides of the river were powerless to stop the promenaders since neither Cincinnati, Ohio, or Covington, Ky., has any jurisdiction on the river, although it technically belongs to Kentucky.

The strollers blocked the progress of a 12-barge tow being pushed upriver by the City of Pittsburgh before straggling off the ice.

3 Persons Die In Road Mishaps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There were three traffic deaths on Ohio roads during the weekend, the state Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol keeps the count from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

The dead:

SUNDAY

YOUNGSTOWN — Karen L. Edwards, 15, Warren, when the car in which she was riding went out of control on a Mahoning County road.

CANAL WINCHESTER — Janice C. Stevens, 19, and Barbara M. Stevens, 34, both of Columbus, when the car in which they were passengers hit a parked school bus on U.S. 33.

fence from the very young who could hardly walk to the old people," said Capt. W.A. Boudreaux, Houma, La., aboard the City of Pittsburgh.

He said he called Cincinnati and Covington police through the marine operator when the walkers ignored his whistle and loudspeaker warnings to get off the ice.

"Well, what came up to my mind was they are more stupid than I am," he drawled afterward. Boudreaux said he shut down when he got within 50 feet of the walkers who "cussed us out for trying to run them off the ice."

The towboat was pushing 12-barges in double tandem stretching 105-foot across and 1,100 long. The barges were the first to go up river past Cincinnati last Monday. Boudreaux said he was delivering petroleum products, fuel and lubricants, to Pittsburgh, Pa., from Cairo, Ill.

He was followed by another tow carrying empty propane barges. Both were "bulling" their way through the ice.

Boudreaux said his tow cracked the river ice from shore to shore.

Police officials were anxious to prevent a disaster.

"If someone had fallen through the ice, we couldn't have got the emergency equipment through to save them," said a Cincinnati police officer.

Marathon Appraisal Won't Be Fought

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — A Hancock County assistant prosecutor says Marathon Oil Co.'s $5 million reduced tax valuation won't be appealed if the county and Marathon can agree on a method for future appraisals.

The firm is headquartered here.

Findlay schools will lose $170,000 in tax revenue collected under the higher valuation of $22.9 million set by the county in 1974 if the state Board of Tax Appeals' decision is allowed to stand.

The board last week ordered the Marathon assessment lowered to $17.2 million.

Asst. Prosecutor John Noble said the county board of revisions is "not happy with the decision from the viewpoint that it doesn't tell us how to go about appraising the (Marathon office) complex in the future."

House Fire Claims Life Of Girl, 3

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A house fire here early Sunday took the life of a 3-year-old girl, fire officials said.

They said Tanressa Walker died when she was unable to escape from the downstairs area where she was sleeping. Her grandmother, awakened by a dog barking at the fire, succeeded in getting seven other children out of an upstairs window, they said.

The mother of the children was in the hospital at the time having a baby, fire officials said. Cause of the fire remained under investigation. Damage was estimated at $24,000.

Dayton Schools Eye Possible Closings

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — It's finals week for the 40,000 students in Dayton public schools. Just how final remains to be seen.

Dayton Public Schools Supt. John Maxwell said late Sunday that chances of remaining open beyond the test week are "bleak" and "dark," even with Gov. James A. Rhodes' declaration earlier in the day of a statewide energy emergency.

Maxwell said the gloomy picture was painted by state officials including Rhodes who indicated in a weekend meeting that Dayton schools would be allowed to finish the five days remaining in this semester before Rhodes takes administrative steps to allow him to order school closings.

With Rhodes allowing Dayton schools to finish the semester, about 300 seniors will be able to graduate as expected at the end of the week, Maxwell said.

Schools in the 24-county area served by Dayton Power & Light Co. had been faced with the possibility of a state-ordered 30-day closure, but Rhodes on Sunday opted to declare an emergency, not a crisis, so he lacked the authority to close schools. Almost all the area's schools would be open Monday, Maxwell said.

"I think we're going to be shut down," Maxwell predicted Saturday after the meeting with Rhodes.

"We will not disobey any orders. We will continue with our educating on a day-to-day basis until we have a directive to close from the governor," he said, indicating such a mandate is expected at the end of the week.

"It sounded to me like they wanted to treat all cities and schools the same," he said.

Despite the availability of an adequate propane gas supply to remain open most of the winter, Maxwell said, "we can't be open if it's going to put the kids' daddies out of work."

"If our parents who work in industry are out of work and we're still in school, that would be bad public relations and we couldn't go with it. If they're not working, they're not paying taxes and if they're not paying taxes there's no money for school. It's a round robin," said Maxwell.

DP&L has already shut off natural gas to about 2,000 commercial customers. It serves 1.3 million residential users in the 24 counties.

Maxwell had proposed to Rhodes that he order a 15-day closing instead of a 30-day schools shutdown, and then evaluate the results at the end of the two weeks.

"We have no choice," the governor answered. "It's not a question of what we want. Two weeks of closing won't save the gas that's needed."

State schools Supt. Martin Essex complained that a 30-day school closing could cause other problems.

Flue Clog Sickens 50

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Authorities are blaming a soot-clogged furnace flue for the release of a "very lethal" amount of carbon monoxide that sent more than 50 basketball fans and players to a hospital emergency room here Friday night.

A spokeswoman at Culver Hospital said all but four of those taken to the hospital were treated and released. The others, all teenagers, were listed in stable condition and were held overnight.

Another 25 fans, rushed from the gymnasium in Alamo, Ind., 13 miles southwest of here, were treated for vomiting, dizziness and fainting spells at Crawfordsville High School after the Civil Defense set up an emergency treatment center there.

Fans were evacuated after a player collapsed during the third quarter of the game between Linden Christian Academy and Greenfield Christian Academy.

Bird Feeding Urged By ODNR

Ohioans can brighten up the snow-covered winter landscape with color, sound and natural beauty at a nominal cost by providing food for birds.

"With Ohio in the midst of an unseasonably cold, snowy winter, natural winter food for birds is even more scarce and hard for them to find," said Robert W. Teater, Director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

"Ohioans can help keep birds alive and healthy during the severe weather by providing food, putting them in better condition for the breeding season."

The easiest way to feed birds is to place the food on the ground or in the brush. By placing the bird feed in the brush, predators are less likely to be attracted to the feed. This method of bird feeding will attract ground feeding birds such as doves, juncos and towhees.

To attract a mixture of birds, a simple above-the-ground feeding station can be used. Platform feeders bring the birds up to an eye level where they are easier to see while a window-shelf feeder allows close-up observation of birds from your side of the window. Hopper feeders offer the advantage of holding several day's supply of food, mainly grains.

These above-the-ground feeders are available commercially or many can be constructed from discarded household goods. Used bleach jugs, glass jars or metal cans make excellent bird feeders with just a little modification. Onion and potato sacks also make good suet holders.

"Many birds have specialized food habits and unless these are met, they will not be attracted to a feeding station," Teater said.

Feeding birds can be accomplished at nominal cost. Just a few seeds and a small home-made feeder will repay you many times in the pleasure and interest it brings.

Grease or bacon drippings mixed with seeds or suet attracts nuthatches, woodpeckers and other birds that feed on insects and insect grubs during the winter.

Nut meats are choice foods for cardinals, catbirds, chickadees, crossbills, goldfinches, grosbeaks, nuthatches, titmice, woodpeckers, jays and juncos.

Dry seeds such as corn, grasses and weeds are eaten by bobwhites, cardinals, doves, goldfinches, grackles, jays, juncos, pheasants, redpolls, siskins, sparrows, thrashers and towhees.

Berries and fruits are important foods to bluebirds, catbirds, flickers, mockingbirds, robins, thrashers and thrushes.

"If you decide to feed birds this winter, don't interrupt or stop the feeding because the birds will depend on you for much of their winter food."

Monday Club Cancels

Monday Club meeting scheduled for tonight has been canceled.

The next regular meeting will be held February 14.

Teater said.

Once winter feeding is started, it should be continued until last spring.

For more information concerning winter bird feeding, a publication entitled "Attracting Birds in Ohio" is available for 25 cents from the Publications Center, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus 43224.

One Thomas Edison is not enough.

The world, with all its problems and difficulties, needs all the Edisons it can get. And while true genius is rare, there will always be a need for people who can continue what he began.

But there are two problems. Finding talented people. And developing their talents.

You can help with the first problem if you know a high school graduate who is interested in electronics.

If so, we can solve the second problem. The Navy offers what we believe to be some of the world's finest training in advanced electronics. We can take a qualified young man or woman with no prior training, and, in a few months, have him well on the way to being not only an electronics expert, but a confident, mature individual.

Then, when his education is completed, he'll have the opportunity to see much of the world while he works with the most sophisticated electronic equipment he'll ever see. For which he'll receive a good salary as well as all Navy benefits.

We'd be happy to send more information about the Navy advanced electronics program. Simply send in the coupon.

Because you may be helping someone who can help the world.

Colder weather + 30 days = higher heating bills.

Unless you're taking advantage of Columbia's Budget Payment Plan, the gas bill you get this month reflects the weather we had last month. And the gas bill you get next month should remind you of the weather we're having now.

The colder the weather, the harder our home furnaces have to work. The harder our furnaces work, the more gas we use. The more gas we use, the higher the gas bill.

Everyone knows that.

Only sometimes we forget what the weather was like a month ago.

St. Henry Mayor, 19, Ponders Goals

LIBERTY CENTER, Ohio (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Craig V. Myers says rural towns "are going to have to pull together to get enough money to survive."

He ought to know. He's mayor of this Henry County village 30 miles southwest of Toledo.

"One government agency gets on your back to do something, but then it is difficult to get the necessary funding from another agency to start," said Myers, one of a handful of U.S. mayors elected at age 18.

Myers was fresh out of high school when he was elected mayor in 1975.

Since then, his political acumen has grown. And he says being young sometimes is an asset.

"If you play dumb sometimes, people help you out because they think you need it," he explained.

Myers said he is beginning to understand politics.

"Politics gets to be a real mind game," he said. "When I first started out, council would always pick away at my ideas, but I went to the people and they started asking them why they were against me.

"The people told council to 'give the kid a chance.'"

A Bowling Green State University accounting major, Myers faces having to find solutions to some serious problems for the community of 1,100. But Myers thinks his age has been an advantage.

In 1975, for instance, the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency ordered Liberty Center to install sewers and until last March, the town struggled to get money for the project from the federal government.

"It seems that our request shot right through after I was elected," he said, explaining that publicity of his election probably speeded approval.

Myers has helped obtained a federal grant for development of a new village park and has hired a more experienced police chief for the town's two-man force.

His long range goals include securing more money for the park and holding down utility costs, especially for the elderly and those on fixed incomes.

But most of all he wants to improve Liberty Center's water supply, which residents complain has a sulfurous taste.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers will see plenty of beef, poultry, pork and milk on grocery shelves next month, another indication that farmers have stepped up production of basic food commodities for the past year, the Agriculture Department said today.

The forecast was in a monthly "Food Marketing Alert" report sent to large-volume food buyers such as schools, hospitals and other institutions.

By U.S. definition, used in the report, plentiful means "more than enough for requirements" while adequate indicates there will be "enough to meet needs" of consumers. A light designation means "less than adequate" and therefore not enough for normal requirements.

The report also said that new supplies of fresh citrus fruits and juices will be plentiful in February, but officials said the assessment was made before the new blast of freezing weather reached into Florida orange groves.

A USDA spokesman said the freeze damage's impact on national citrus supplies and retail prices has not yet been determined.

er reached into Florida orange groves. A USDA spokesman said the freeze damage's impact on national citrus supplies and retail prices has not yet been determined.

Although the February beef supply is classified as plentiful, it will be down 6 to 8 per cent from the record levels of a year ago when cattle producers were thinning their herds rapidly to counteract further market price declines.

As farmers and ranchers sent more cattle to market, retail beef prices declined steadily last year, but began rising late last fall as the cutbacks took hold. Thus, retail beef prices in December averaged nearly $1.39 a pound on an all-cut basis used by USDA to indicate price changes. That was up about a penny from November, according to preliminary figures. In December, 1975, beef was nearly $1.51 a pound.

Tigers Host Eagles At Mill St. Tuesday

If it ever stops snowing and the roads clear up, the Madison Plains Golden Eagles will move into Circleville Tuesday night to meet the Tigers in a South Central Ohio League confrontation at Mill St. gym with the reserve game getting underway at 6:30 p.m.

This will be a makeup game as these two teams were set to play on Jan. 11 but "old man winter" put a stop to it.

The Tigers will be out to improve their 5-4 record but haven't seen any action since Jan. 15 when they dropped a tough decision to a strong Bexley team.

Madison Plains is a big, excellent shooting team with experience.

They are led by Gary Self, 6-foot-5 center, who is a two-year starter and leading scorer and Doug Sifrit, 6-foot-1 forward, who was also a starter on last year's team.

The Golden Eagles will utilize a full court zone press and a half court zone press. They will also set up in a 1-3-1 zone and seldom switch to a man to man. "We must keep pressure on their outside shooters, keep the ball away from the big men and block them off the boards to be successful," Circleville coach Jim Bailey stated. "We must try to beat the zone press down the floor but if we can't we'll play for the good shot."

For the remainder of the season the Circleville Fun and Fundamental fifth and sixth grade cage teams will play six minute games during halftime of the varsity contests played at home.

Coach Bailey plans to make a few changes in the lineup of the Tigers for the game against the Eagles.

The starting lineup for Circleville will be: Tom Taylor and Roy Huffer at the guards, Brent Wright at center with Toren Bensonhaver and Frank Merrill working up front. Eric Pontius and Tim Milstead will be the first men off the bench.

The Tigers are averaging 62.3 points per game while allowing the opposition 61.2 per contest.

Tiger Freshmen Edged In Meet With Worthington

Circleville freshman wrestling squad dropped a hard-fought 28-25 decision to a powerful Worthington squad on the local mats.

"Worthington is considered to be one of the top teams in the Central District and I feel that our boys are on an even par with them. If we wrestled against them several times, I feel that it would probably be a break-even affair."

"We got outstanding performances from Rocky Ford, even though he lost a tough one, Scott Chelikowsky, Jim Butler, Wilkins, Miller, Vinkovich, Contino, Linton and Allen," Walters said.

Washington Caps Defeat Blues, 6-3

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

There are 60 minutes to a National Hockey League game. Once in a while, however, it takes just a few of those minutes to seal a victory.

The Washington Capitals proved that Sunday, scoring four goals in the final 3 minutes, 18 seconds and beating the St. Louis Blues 6-3.

In other NHL action, Cleveland surprised Buffalo 3-0, Vancouver blitzed the New York Rangers 6-2, Toronto topped Minnesota 5-2, Detroit held Montreal to a 2-2 deadlock, Boston blanked Atlanta 3-0, Philadelphia and Chicago skated to a 2-2 tie, and the New York Islanders overwhelmed Colorado 7-1.

Mustangs Upend Huntington

Larry Bilek turned in a great performance as he ripped the nest for 29 points and pulled down 21 rebounds to lead Westfall to a 67-62 win over Huntington on the Huntsmen's floor.

It appeared that Huntington was going to take charge as they jumped out to an early 8-2 lead but the battling Mustangs refused to lose their poise and came back to take a 10-9 lead and never trailed again in the contest.

The youthful cagers of coach Mike Eckles maintained an eight to 10 point lead except in the final minutes of the third quarter when the Huntsmen pulled within two.

Play became a little rough in the final canto which sent the Mustangs to the foul line where they were up to the challenge and put the game away. They made the pressure shots which built a five to nine point lead throughout most of the final period.

The Mustangs also showed they are coming into their own with a fine defensive performance that denied Huntington the good shots.

Bilek was strong in the final canto as he hooped 14 points and hauled down seven rebounds. But it was just a fine overall team effort that did the job and put the game away.

In addition to Bilek's 29 points, Bruce Starkey had eight, Jeff Mowery netted 10, Chris Weaver hit six, John Long tallied five, Eric Schleich had four, Tom Adams three and Larry Lift two.

Terry Easterday had 12 for Huntington, Tim Diehl added 12, Dwayne Howard added six, Jim Bower hooped six, Allan Grubb ripped 21, Dave Barladge tallied three and Jeff Kellough had two.

Westfall was 18 of 45 from the field and converted 31 of 42 from the charity stripe.

Huntington hit 23 of 77 from the floor and meshed 16 of 32 from the free throw line.

It was the Mustangs strong board work that played a big part in the win as they led in the rebounding department, 53-38. Starkey gave Bilek a big hand on the boards as he pulled down 11.

"I think this was Larry Bilek's best game yet," coach Eckle commented. "But, you can't overlook the great job all our boys turned in. It was a real team victory and a big win for us."

Kevin Kramer with 18 points and Danny Schleich with 15 led the Westfall reserves to a 55-44 win in the opener.

Westfall has a big week when they host Paint Valley Tuesday, travel to Unioto Friday and are at home with Piketon Saturday.

Braves Come From Behind To Beat Pickerington, 71-70

The Logan Elm Braves came from behind Saturday night to defeat Pickerington 71-70 in a Mid State League basketball game played on the loser's floor.

Junior guard Jeff Collins spearheaded the LE attack connecting on 12 of 16 shots from the field and adding four buckets at the charity line for a varsity career high of 28 points.

Also scoring in double figures were sophomore Dan Hill, moved up from the reserve squad to replace the injured Randy Pontius, with 14 markers and senior guard Mark Skinner with 10.

Terry Wright tallied eight points, Doug Woods six, Mike Patrick six and Chuck Cave 2. Cave, who is the Braves' leading scorer, got in early foul trouble and watched most of the game from the bench.

For Pickerington, Day scored 20, Roesch 19 and Chris Huskey 10.

The Braves made 30 of 56 shots from the field, a 54 per cent shooting average, and 11 of 16 from the line, a 69 per cent average. Pickerington scorched the nets with 31 of 48 field goal attempts, a 67 per cent average, but lost it at the foul line where they could do no better than eight of 13, a 62 per cent average.

Pickerington outrebounded the Braves 30-24. For the Braves, Terry Wright pulled down seven missed shots and Hill snared six rebounds.

"You could tell both teams had been off for 12 or so days," LE coach Butch Kobel said. "There were quite a few turnovers and some ragged play."

"But we got some real good team play in the fourth quarter. We used some man to man pressure late that caused several turnovers and that was a real big help for us."

Pickerington is tall with two of their players 6-foot-6 or over and adjusting to this height was one of the big things the Braves had to overcome according to Kobel.

"We got a lot of real good help from our bench," Kobel said. With Chuck in foul trouble, Doug Woods came in and did the job for us." Also lending outstanding assists as they came off the bench were Mike Patrick and John Mettler.

The Logan Elm reserves lost to Pickerington, 36-35, their first loss in the Mid State League.

For the reserves, Tom Congrove scored 16 points, Mark Vanover 11, Phil Evans four, Brian and Bruce Hannigan two each. Both the varsity and reserves are 6-2 overall and 5-1 in the Mid State.

The next game for the Braves is Tuesday in Spangler Gym at McDowell School against Amanda-Clearcreek. Friday they play at Millersport.

Bjorn Borg Beats Jimmy Connors

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

If Bjorn Borg intends to become the No. 1 tennis player in the world, he took a big step in that direction Sunday.

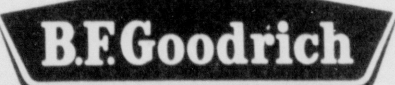

Borg, the defending Wimbledon and World Championship Tennis titleholder, defeated the current No. 1 men's player, Jimmy Connors, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3 in the final of the Grand Slam tennis tournament at Boca Raton, Fla. The victory was worth $100,000 to the Swedish sensation, but there was more than monetary value in the triumph.

"This is really a big win for me," Borg said. "After all, I had lost seven straight matches to him."

Among the losses was the final of the U.S. Open at Forest Hills last September, a triumph that solidified Connors' claim to the top spot.

"This time, I knew I could beat him," Borg said after blowing three match points in the second set before recovering in the third set and winning the match. One of the match points Borg blew was an easy return with Connors out of position.

UCLA Rips Notre Dame, 70-65 Hoosiers Bury Ohio State, 79-56

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

As a student of basketball, Digger Phelps enjoys the Notre Dame-UCLA basketball series.

But as a coach, he certainly did not enjoy it Sunday.

The 10th-ranked Bruins, beaten earlier in the season at Los Angeles by Phelps' Notre Dame team, made a comeback in South Bend, Ind. with a typically frenzied 70-65 victory.

The nationally televised triumph gave UCLA a split for the fourth straight year in the annual two-game series.

"This game typifies the series that we've had with UCLA," said a disappointed but appreciative Phelps. "UCLA is a class team with class people."

The lustrous intersectional rivalry has been going on for some time, but has really come into prominence in the 1970s, with the arrangement of the home-and home series. The exciting recent games have included Notre Dame's 71-70 victory three years ago that ended the Bruins' record 88-game winning streak.

The significance of the Notre Dame game is mirrored in the thoughts of UCLA Coach Gene Bartow.

"It was my biggest win since I've been at UCLA," he said after Sunday's triumph. "The momentum just shifted to us at the right time," said Bartow.

Tom Watson Wins Crosby Open

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — He's one of the brightest of golf's bright young men.

He tries to hide it, but his boyish face registers every emotion, from the dismay of the errant shot that caught the bunker and threw his victory in doubt to the total joy of his head-back shout: "Hot damn, I've won the Crosby."

For several seasons now, Tom Watson has had all the ingredients — save one — of a great, crowd-gathering golf champion. His freckles, red hair and infectious enthusiasm pull the galleries to him in growing numbers.

His obvious intelligence and honesty — at times painful honesty when he's talked with candor of how he lost — have endeared him to the media.

He calls older men "sir," is gracious to the ladies and endures with calm and courtesy the attention of overzealous fans who approach his hotel dinner table seeking autographs or conversation.

His game shows the power of the rippling, muscular forearms. He's won $100,000 or more for three years, passing the strongest test of tour prowess. He's a consistent finisher in the top 10.

His only problem has been a distressing tendency to let the titles get away.

He once had the Byron Nelson in his grasp and hit a ball into the water. A couple of years ago he had a shot at the Crosby — and drove it into golf's largest hazard, the Pacific Ocean. He twice had a shot at the U.S. Open, at Winged Foot and Medinah, and let them escape.

There have been many others.

But he overcame that tendency in his solid, front-running, record-setting, one-stroke victory over challenging

"Notre Dame had the momentum, then we had it, kept it in the second half for a while, and it changed again."

In college basketball games Saturday, second-ranked Cincinnati suffered a 78-75 upset by Tulane; No. 3 Alabama was beaten 102-93 by No. 14 Tennessee; No. 4 North Carolina defeated No. 13 Maryland 71-68; No. 5 Michigan stopped Illinois 66-61; No. 6 Kentucky blasted LSU 87-72; No. 7 Nevada-Las Vegas defeated Pepperdine 85-80; No. 8 Marquette walloped Xavier of Ohio 85-43, and No. 9 Wake Forest edged North Carolina-Charlotte 74-72.

Also, 11th-ranked Minnesota beat Wisconsin 82-64; 12th-rated Louisville routed St. Louis 74-55; No. 15 Providence trounced Boston University 83-68; No. 16 Arizona stopped Brigham Young 113-85; No. 17 Arkansas walloped Texas 86-58; No. 18 Memphis State turned back Brandeis 97-87; No. 19 Purdue whipped Michigan State 76-70, and No. 20 Syracuse outscored Pitt 96-74.

Marques Johnson scored 23 points and led a second-half surge that carried UCLA over Notre Dame. The Irish, trailing by 12 points midway through the second half, rallied behind Duck Williams and held a three-point lead with two minutes left before two straight baskets by the 6-foot-7 Johnson put the Bruins ahead to stay.

A three-point play by Jim Spillane and two free throws by Roy Hamilton in the closing seconds clinched the victory for the Pacific-8 Conference team.

Jeff Cummings scored 18 points and grabbed a clutch rebound in the final seconds, leading Tulane's upset of Cincinnati.

Bernard King scored 26 points, Mike Jackson 24 and Ernie Grunfeld 22, leading Tennessee over Alabama. The victory gave the Vols the undisputed lead in the Southeastern Conference with a 7-0 record.

Phil Ford scored five points in the last four minutes and conducted North Carolina's famed "Four Corner Offense" as the Tar Heels beat Maryland. Phil Hubbard's 29 points led Michigan over Illinois.

Mike Phillips led a free-throw barrage late in the second half, helping Kentucky beat LSU.

Lewis Brown scored two three-point plays late in the game as Nevada-Las Vegas beat Pepperdine. Butch Lee and Bo Ellis scored 17 points each, propelling Marquette past Xavier of Ohio. Rod Griffin's 29 points and 12 rebounds led Wake Forest over North Carolina-Charlotte.

Sparked by Ray Williams, Minnesota reeled off 15 straight points in beating Wisconsin. Wesley Cox' 25 points paced Louisville over St. Louis. Bob Cooper's 23 points led Providence over Boston University. A 35-point performance by Herman Harris powered Arizona over Brigham Young.

Ron Brewer and Marvin Delph combined for 43 points, leading Arkansas past Texas.

Memphis State beat Brandeis behind Dexter Reed's 30 points. Jerry Sighting scored four points in the final seconds, sealing Purdue's victory over Michigan State. Syracuse whipped Pitt as Dale Shackelford scored 18 points.

76ers Top Celts, 91-83

By DAVE O'HARA
AP Sports Writer

Julius Erving is ready to bury the Boston Celtics, even though he has played against the National Basketball Association's defending champions only three times.

"The Celtics' domination seems over," the Philadelphia superstar said Sunday after the 76ers defeated Boston for the third time 91-83 before a capacity crowd of 15,040 and a regional television audience.

Although he was making his first Boston Garden appearance, the high-salaried refugee from the defunct American Basketball Association was not impressed by the Celtics' 13 NBA championship flags hanging from the rafters.

"What flags?" he asked in response to a question. "This was just another game for me."

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday, the San Antonio Spurs beat the Portland Trail Blazers 123-118, the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the Indiana Pacers 121-104, the Golden State Warriors topped the Atlanta Hawks 104-97, the New York Nets tripped the Chicago Bulls 95-86, the Phoenix Suns beat the Seattle SuperSonics 98-88, the Washington Bullets defeated the Detroit Pistons 119-108, and the Milwaukee Bucks downed the Kansas City Kings 119-111.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Indiana put Ohio State through the basketball buzzsaw with brute force. Now Michigan tries it with finesse and speed.

"We played much closer to the way we can play. That's the way I'm used to seeing it," said a beaming Coach Bobby Knight after his Hoosiers buried the Buckeyes 79-56 Saturday night.

The victory kept alive the Hoosiers' bid to keep their Big Ten title. Indiana is 4-2 in the conference and 9-6 over-all, two games behind leading Michigan's 6-0 start.

Indiana is idle tonight while host Ohio State takes a shot at fifth-ranked Michigan. Eldon Miller, the Buckeyes' coach, is optimistic.

"Indiana was very, very strong underneath, where we're not," said Miller. "We have the perimeter people to match up better with Michigan. But they are so good at the break."

Kent Benson, all 6-foot-11 and 245 pounds of him, was the Buckeyes' chief tormentor. He delivered 29 points—five more than Ohio State's three inside starters—and collected 12 rebounds.

"Benson really worked," said Knight. "He wheeled inside well and was quicker with his shots."

Mike Woodson, a 6-5 freshman, contributed 22 more points for Indiana. "But he played better defensively, which is more important to me," said his coach.

Indiana took apart Ohio State's zone defenses and swept into a 24-8 lead. The defending national champions never trailed by less than 14 after that.

"Their defense (man-to-man) forced us out of our offense early. Our kids were too excited, too worried about staying in their patterns," said Miller. "We tried to win the game with 25-footers."

Benson led the stronger, taller Hoosiers to a 49-37 bulge in rebounding. "Kent is one of the great centers in the country," said Miller. "He never plays out of control. He has great intensity."

Kelvin Ransey, a 6-1 freshman guard, scored 18 points for Ohio State, 2-3 in the Big Ten and 7-7 for all games. Rickey Green, Michigan's leading scorer, missed the Wolverines' 66-61 victory Saturday over Illinois because of a back injury. Miller expects him to play against Ohio State.

"I hope he's ready," Miller said. "I don't want to play Michigan without him in there."

Cincinnati, second ranked nationally last week, went down to its second successive defeat, 78-75 at Tulane. The Bearcats, now 12-2, lost it when Arthur Bibbs hit two foul shots with seven seconds left.

Ohio's two major independents, Dayton and Xavier, fared no better. The Flyers dropped to a 10-5 record, DePaul scoring 17 points in a row en route to a 74-67 decision. Xavier (6-9) took an 85-43 lesson at No. 8 Marquette.

In the Mid-American Conference, Western Michigan (5-1) went back on top by handing Central Michigan (3-1) its first MAC setback 71-65. Favored Miami (4-1) and Northern Illinois (4-1) slipped into second place. The Redskins beat Ohio University 84-78 while Northern Illinois handled Toledo 54-51.

Bowling Green moved into a fourth-place tie with Central Michigan, thumping Ball State 72-54 behind Tommy Harris' 35 points. Freshman Burl Nesbitt's 11 points in the last 4½ minutes led Kent State past Eastern Michigan 84-78.

Ohio Northern in the North and Wittenberg and Muskingum in the South remained out front in the Ohio Conference races.

Ohio Northern jumped its league record to 5-1 by thumping Kenyon 92-

75. Wittenberg and Muskingum shared the South lead with 5-0 marks, the Tigers edging Otterbein 68-64 and the Muskies walloping Denison 89-63.

In the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference, Defiance (7-3) went out front again by taking four overtimes to nip Taylor 117-115. Bluffton (5-3) fell from the top spot, losing to Findlay 82-73.

Malone strengthened its MidOhio Conference lead, earning its seventh league victory in eight games 79-70 over Ohio Dominican. Second-place Rio Grande (4-1) had its game at home with Tiffin postponed because of the fuel crisis.

Fran Tarkenton Erred In Skipping Bowl Game

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

Fifteen days after his ill-starred venture in the Super Bowl, Fran Tarkenton is still plucking buckshot out of his hide.

But it's a tough hide, and the man who has passed the mostest, and farthest of any quarterback in the history of the National Football League insists he doesn't feel a thing.

"Criticism doesn't bother me," the 36-year-old field general of the Minnesota Vikings said over the

National Park Service Employment Applicants Must Meet Deadline

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Applications for summer employment with the National Park Service must be received by that agency no later than Feb. 15, Congressman William H. Harsha said this week.

Ohio's Sixth District Congressman has been advised by the National Park Service that due to the larger number of applications each year, the filing deadline for receiving applications in its regional offices is strictly observed.

"The Park Service has advised me that no consideration can be given to those who do not make this deadline," said Harsha, who noted that once again applicants far outnumber the positions available, making employment opportunities extremely limited.

Most positions are filled by people returning from previous seasonal employment with the Park Service, and Civil Service Commission regulations require that veterans be given preference among qualified applicants.

Any Ohioan interested in summer employment in the nation's national park system must complete Standard Form 171 (SF-171) Personal Qualifications Statement and submit it

Nazarene Quizzers Take Second Place In Competition

The teen bible quiz team of the Circleville Church of the Nazarene took second place in competition this past weekend.

The team, consisting of Brent Park, Trent Park, Robin Manson and Mariam Waites, placed second during the Indianapolis West Side Invitational Bible Quiz Saturday. The Park boys made the all-tourney team.

The quiz covered Paul's Letters to the Galatians, Ephesians and Philippians. The team is coached by Charlene Fouch and Tom Sipes.

St. Matthew's Brotherhood Banquet Held

The annual St. Matthew's Lutheran Brotherhood banquet was held Wednesday night at the St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Lockbourne.

Following dinner served by the ladies of the church, Edwin Irwin, master of ceremonies, presented the following program: vocal and guitar music by Robert Leatherwood and David Rainey; welcome by Gene Jordan, 1976 brotherhood president; talk by William Weik, 1977 president; remarks by Pastor Wilmer Hallman; and an address by William Needles, artist for the Columbus, Ohio, police department.

Needles described methods for reproducing drawings of criminals from eye witness descriptions. He also exhibited paintings and wood carvings he makes as a hobby. About 100 members and guests attended the banquet.

to the regional office of the National Park Service serving Ohio, at the following address: Midwest Region, 1709 Jackson St., Omaha, Neb. 68102.

Form 171 can be obtained at any Civil Service Commission Area Office or the personnel office of any federal agency. On receipt of the Form 171, the National Park Service may require the completion of additional forms which they will furnish applicants.

Positions that involve law enforcement or public safety duties generally are restricted to persons at least 21 years of age. Applicants for technician, aid and ranger positions must be at least 18, have a valid driver's license, and meet certain vision requirements.

Auditor Releases Payments For Public Assistance

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported today public assistance payments to Ohio's 88 counties totaled $12,504,777 in December. Pickaway County received $33,171.75.

Ferguson said $9,008,336.79 of this amount went to help the counties cover the general relief and administration costs of their welfare operations. The general relief subsidy is derived primarily from state and partially from county revenue.

The remaining $3,496,441.07 was reimbursement to the counties for administering and purchasing family and children services such as day care, family planning and marital counseling programs. Such revenue comes from both federal and state funds.

The distributions ranged from $3,949.96 to Preble County to $2,718,297.67 to Cuyahoga County.

SHOVELING — Mac Shumm, an employee of the Circleville Post Office, evidently got tired of shoveling the walks recently, so he climbed to the roof of the Post Office and removed the snow from the edge of the roof to prevent any loose snow from falling on customers. Mac won't be the only one shoveling snow for the next few days though, as an inch of new snow had fallen in the county by 7 a.m. this morning, and according to weather radio, snow may fall every day this week.

City Burglary Probed

The Circleville Police Department investigated a break-in at the Roundtown Hobby Shop, 236 E. Franklin St., which occurred late Saturday or in the early hours of Sunday morning.

According to the report, thieves broke the glass in the front door and unlocked the door from the outside.

Once inside, the report states that merchandise in the amount of $760.75 was removed. Ptl. Ron Smith and Ptl. James Ford investigated the incident.

MAKE THE MINI-MIZER TEST!

BUY THIS WEEK'S GROCERIES AT KROGER.

And while you're at our store, pick up one of our handy Mini-Mizer pocket adders for only 77¢.

CHECK AT ANY OTHER FOOD STORE YOU LIKE.

Use your Mini-Mizer to add up that store's total for the same items you just bought at Kroger.

COMPARE THE TOTALS.

We believe Kroger's total will be lower. But if you have any doubts, invest 77¢ and an hour of your time in making the test. See how much you can save, and settle any doubts for sure.
